OMG! I had not heard about (b) (6) ! How awful. Do you have her home address? She used to be on the mailing list, which is where I always got it. But I had to remove it quite a while back ☺

I have only heard about your new boss through the grapevine. No introductions, etc. from any management. Glad he seems to be working out.

Doesn't sound like a fun experience, in days of old I always got stuck with sick people cause I had a stomach for it, but I'm not sure I could do that anymore. I'm pretty good with that kind of stuff but passing out is scary.

The new boss is OK so far, I think I like him. I got renewed for another year so I guess that's a good thing. I keep thinking about retiring but I am frightened of having too much time on my hands and it's nice having mad money! I very bad when I'm bored.

I imagine you know that (b) (6) .

I have been traveling a little, but nothing exciting. I'm going to Wilcox in Bristow Okla. On the May 19, so that's nothing to get excited about.

Things around here are about the same. Most of the FTE's work two days at home, HA, HA, and we are stuck here. You know what I mean Jason works at home Mon. & Fri. / what a joke. Zana is still doing well and Stephen is OK.

See ya, Bill

Hola! How are you? Have you taken any interesting trips? Not much going on here. Most recent interesting thing in my life is one of the big wig cardiologists at my husband's job threw a party to watch the Pacquiao-Mayweather fight at a sports bar in Addison. Interesting experience. My good deed for the day (week, month, year, decade??) involved getting the VERY inebriated wife of one of my husband's colleagues to the ladies room where she proceeded to pass out. I won't share the ENTIRE story. Too much information.

Sorry, but Devil's Swamp is not on our list. It would require a COI, and I'm not sure how that would turn out. HILL does work with Clean Harbors. Bummer ☹ In the past, we were allowed to do CI for this site, but things have changed, so I'm not sure. Let me know if you need any old files. I can get them to you.

Attached are the current lists of sites we are authorized to work on.

Hey buttercup, what's going on? I have a fact sheet for Devils Swamp almost ready to go. Are you still my pro for this site? I certainly hope so.

Go Bucks,
Bill

Subject: New final rule on public notification in CERCLA

Good evening, everyone. You may have seen this, but I thought I'd pass along just in case. It's a change to the NCP that expands options for public notification of some CERCLA actions and does not require publication in the "major local newspaper of general circulation," if it's not an effective means of communication for some communities. Some actions (Proposed Plan announcements, RODs, etc.) still require the newspaper notice.
